BEST

Hutchison Ports BEST is the first semi-automated terminal developed by Hutchison Ports. In addition to being the most technologically advanced project in the Mediterranean and being capable of serving multiple mega-vessel simultaneously, the facilities have one of the most modern gate systems in Europe and one of the largest railway terminals within a container terminal in the Mediterranean. The facilities have eight mixed gauge tracks (Iberian and UIC), connecting BEST daily with different points of Spain and the South of France.

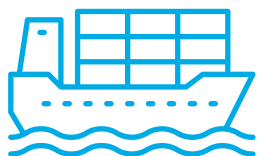

Since its official opening in September 2012, BEST has continued to set new standards for ports in Southern Europe: achieving a ship productivity rate of more than 220 movements per hour and a sustained average performance of more than 40 movements per hour and by crane, one of the highest in the world.

CONNECTIVITY

BEST, located at the Port of Barcelona, has excellent road and railway connections with the main highway and railway network of Spain and the rest of Europe, as well as a strong network of maritime connections with the most relevant ports.

The development of these routes, along with Barcelona's privileged and strategic location positions BEST as a logistic hub and makes it the main gateway of entry of goods in the European market.
